Zbyszko Throws Mountain of Flesh

Champion Grappler Takes Two Falls Out of Koloss, Who Weighs 358 Pounds-Second Down Made in Six Minutes.

The bigger they are the heavier they fall, this little saying was proven on Friday night in Pulaski hall, when Ebyszko, the noted Polish wrestler, who lays claim to the title of the world, downed Koloss, the heavy Frenchman, who tips the scales at $58 pounds, stripped. The first fall was landed in 16 minutes and the final one in six minutes.

Zbyszko at first was pussed as to what kind of a hold to get on his big opponent who was a mountain of flesh. At one stage early in the match when Koloss was on the mat Zbyszko in endeavoring to get a satisfactory hold, Zbyszko at first was puzzled as to what kind of a hold to get on his big opponent who was a mountain of flesh. At one stage early in the match when Koloss was on the mat Zbyszko in endeavoring to get a satisfactory hold, performed several acrobatic feats on the Frenchman's broad back and in several instances the Polish grappler exhibited his marvelous lifting power in tossing his heavy opponent about the mat. Through alertness Zbyszko got the first fall when he, in forming a bridge, suddenly rolled, sending Kosloss to one side, pounced on him with tremendous power, pinning his shoulders to the mat.

The second fall came within six minutes after they resumed the struggle, throwing Koloss over his head, following up with a decisive hold.

Although the men are noted in the ring for being scientific boxers they falled to display anything out of the ordinary.

After the final fall Zbyszko addressed the audience first in English, then in Polish, emphasizing the fact that he would like to see the wrestling game thrive in this city. On March 9 Zbyszko will meet Dr. Roller and on Feb. 22 he has signed to wrestle Hus-

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS IRREGULAR. There Was an Undertone of Caution

Due to International Situation. New York, Feb. 2.-For a brief todays's market gave promise of retrieving much of the ground lost in yesterday's severe and general setback, stocks displaying comparative strength towards forenoon, after an irregular opening. Except for the first and final hours. operations were on a moderate scale, the aggregate being only a little more than half of yesterday's large turn-over. The undertone of caution indicated that the uncertainties respecting relations between Washington and Berlin still remained the foremost factor.

The heaviness of the last hour was accentuated by a steady offering of high grade investment rails, which yielded with unexpected ease. St. Paul, Reading, Northern Pacific and Erie second preferred fell three points each, Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific 4 and New York Central almost six points with one to two points in other points, with one to two points in other transportation issues of usual prominence.

U. S. Steel at one time was as high as 104 1-8, 1 3-4 over yesterday's closing figure, but receded to 100 1-8, and closing at a small fraction over its minimum. Other shares of the same class lost 2 to 4 points, with 2 to 7 for oils, 2 to 4 for motors and shippings, Baldwin Locomotive and People's Gas. Brooklyn Rapid Transit, which developed weakness prior to the pie's Gas. Brooklyn Rapid Transit, which developed weakness prior to the recent slump, lost six points, selling down to 68 1-2, its lowest price since 1910. American Tobacco featured the high priced industrials, dropping 13 points on one sale. Total sales points on one sale. Total sales amounted to 1,300,000 shares.

An early rise of 8 1-2 points in American Beet Sugar was later explained by the increased and extra dividends declared on that stock. Republic Iron's extraordinary statement for 1916 showing net wording three times in Iron's extraordinary statement for 1916, showing net profits three times in excess of the previous year, was in keeping with recent exhibits of similar industrial corporations.

Anglo-French 5's and United Kingdog 5 1-2's were again depressed to new low records, with heaviness in domestic issues. Total sales (par value) aggregated $4,260,000. U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

TIMELY PLEA FOR

COLLEGE OARSMEN ntercollegiate Stewards Are Asked to Reduce Races from Four to Three Miles.

Miles.

It seems that it would be a stroke of good policy to reduce the distance of the annual intercollegiate boat race on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsle from four to three miles. And in doing this the stewards could well afford to give consideration to the other college men whose stature and weight did not assure them of a seat in the varsity boats of the various crews. Rowing and swimming are, perhaps, the most exhaustive of all athletic competition. This is especially true in swimming, for it brings into play nearly every muscle of the human body. If you want to be convinced of this, just try to swim a half mile in any non-tidal stream. Don't quit when you feel tired, but keep on swimming until you reach your goal. If you are not in the best of physical condition you will find when you reach the finish you will have scarcely enough strength left to climb into the boat or on to the float, as the case may be.

Rowing is a close second. Go out on the Schuyikill river and if you are Rowing is a close second. Go out on the Schuylkill river and if you are not a member of one of the boat clubs bire a working boat or a single gig, which is its real aquatic name, row from the Fairmount dam to the trolley bridge at Strawberry mansion and re-turn without stopping. Put every ounce of strength in each stroke, kick your legs out on the catch, putting all your power in your pair of oars. When you pull up alongside of the float at the finish you will have covered about four miles. If you are not "all in," the writer will have missed his guess.

This is sculling along When you the writer will have missed his guesa. This is sculling alone. When you feel fired you can lessen your stroke. It is not so with the man who pulls a sweep oar in a college eight. When the four port oars are swerving the shell out of its course the coach and coxswain know that some starboard oar is shirking his duty. That can be quickly discerned. As they say in England, then a series of "tubbing" trials begins. The apparently weak candidate on the starboard side is placed in a pair-oared gig with a coxswain against a fellow who pulls a port oar. They paddle to midstream. The shell is steered with its prow straight up or down the river. The conswain releases the tiller ropes and etraight up or down the river. The conswain releases the tiller ropes and sweep oarsmen receives a rare The stronger of the two, or shall very soon the rowing strength of the we say the more skilful oar, pulls his rival into the opposite shore. This is the elimination process resorted to by New York, Feb. 2.—Patsy Cline of this city, defeated Stanley Yoakum of Denver in a ten-round bout here tonight, outpointing the westerner in every round except the first, which "tubbing" process.

"tubbing" process.

Take, for instance, Pennsylvania.

Coach Wright will probably have more than 150 candidates to select a first and second varsity crew from. A maand second varsity crew from. A majority of these men began training on the machines shortly after the Christmas holidays. They will continue their arduous work all spring on the river, racing with each other until the climax comes in June on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie. Only a varsity and a second eight can compete at this regatta. Sixteen men in all have won that right of the 150 candidates who have worked hard day by day making that right of the 150 candidates who have worked hard day by day, making sacrifices and privations. Why should they all be thrown in the discard? Why shouldn't there be a race for 150 pound men and another, say, for 140 pound men? Give them all a chance. Rowing is a clean, healthful sport. It strengthens and increases the lung capacity, quickens a man's blood and teaches him to respect the mandates of nature. The stewards of the intercollegiate regatta, those of the Amercollegiate regatta, those of the Amer ican Rowing association, and even our cup and people's regatta, should broaden their programs and give the little fellows a chance.

The writer has always opposed a four mile race for either college or clubmen. It is too great a strain. A man who pulls an oar to his physical limit is invariably in a state of college at the finish. He is inviting permanent injury in a valvular heart or sowing the seed of some physical weakness. When such men as Charles weakness. When such men as Charles weakness. When such men as Charles weakness when such men as Charles weakness. When such men as Charles weakness weakness weakness when such men as Charles weakness. When such men as Charles weakness weakness weakness weakness weakness weakness. When such men as Charles weakness wea E. Courtney and Joe Wright, men who have spent a lifetime in the association of rowing, piace themselves on record as advocating the abolishment of the four mile race, the intercollegiate stewards should give it serious onsideration. No one would suffer any hardships in the change. In fact, it would like develop into a greater aquatic spectacle for those who follow the race ashore. Each event would be fought right out to the finish and the inter-collegiate regatta could rarely be dubbed a procession.— Philadelphia Public Ledger.
